Dear Friends,

August 27, 2014 marked our 5th anniversary of service to families and individuals in need of food assistance in the East Bay. We celebrate our supporters, volunteers, and community – everyone who champions our mission “to engage, educate and empower the East Bay in creating a hunger-free community.” We have accomplished so much together! In the last five years we have:

- Served over 6,500 unique individuals, during nearly 75,000 visits to EBFP!
- Distributed well over 1 million pounds of food!

While we are proud of our service numbers, we are even more excited about how we are serving our clients. Our Access Nutrition Initiative encompasses an innovative and award-winning array of programs offering high quality, healthy foods and nutrition education. EBFP received a "Best of the Best" award at the Rhode Island Community Food Bank's annual Agency Conference on May 30, 2014. This new award recognizes best practices in leadership and management, distribution, food safety, cultural competency, community partnerships and community resources. Only three of the Food Bank's 178 member agencies received a “Best of the Best” award.

EBFP serves approximately 1,000 people each month through one or more of our comprehensive Access Nutrition programs. As a result, total food distribution was up by 19% over the previous year for a total of 306,038 pounds of food distributed in 2014. Food4Kids shows accelerated growth of 106% between 2012 and 2014. Similarly, our Fresh Food Friday program has increased by 34% in 2014 and has increased 80% in the past 2 years. We want to build on these successes and are constantly looking for ways to improve the quality of our service and programs.

We are fortunate to have a gifted and dedicated team comprised of our staff, board members and volunteers whose hard work and dedication are commendable. We are most grateful for our fabulous, astoundingly committed volunteers - with nearly 10,000 hours of service to EBFP in 2014 - and without whom it would be impossible to provide the depth and quality of services to our clients. We appreciate the many ways everyone involved with EBFP helps bring our mission to life. Together, we have provided nearly 1 million meals since we opened our doors in August 2009!

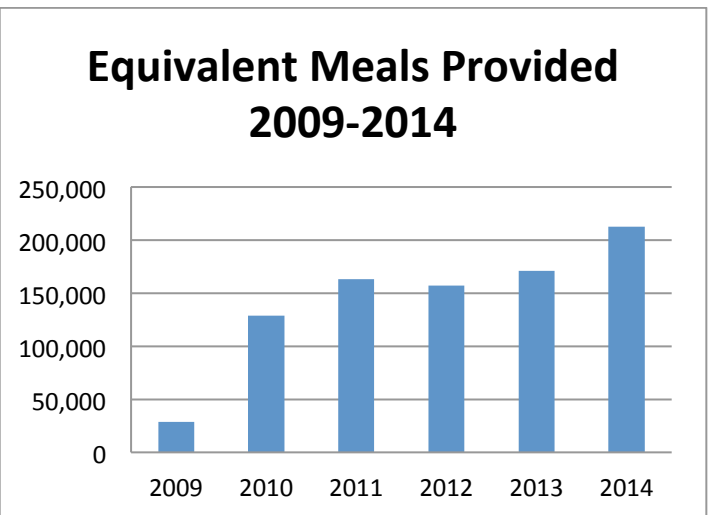

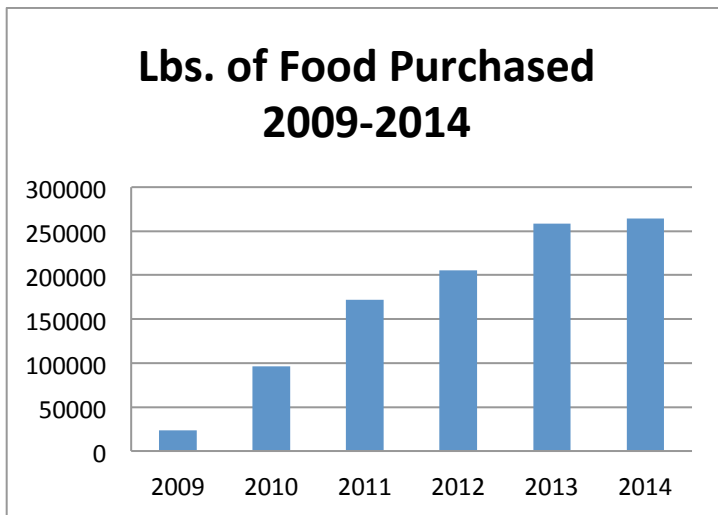

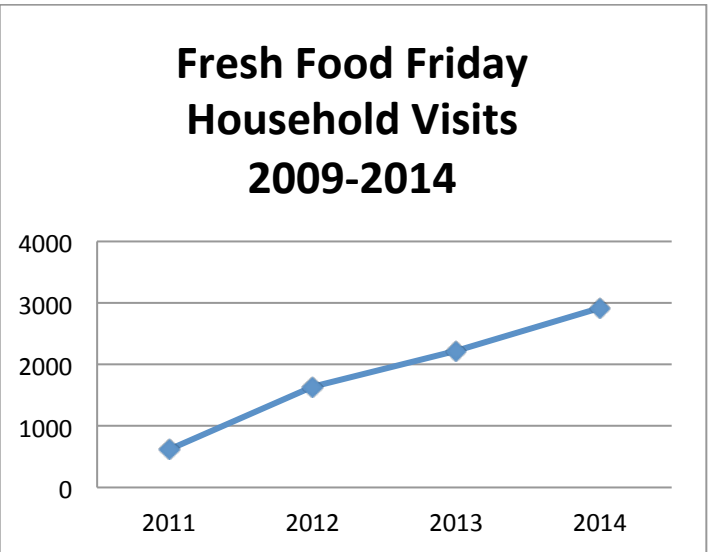

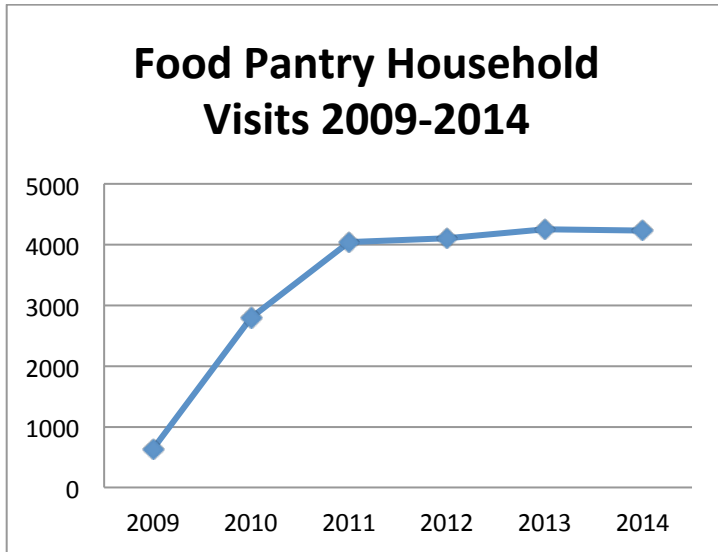

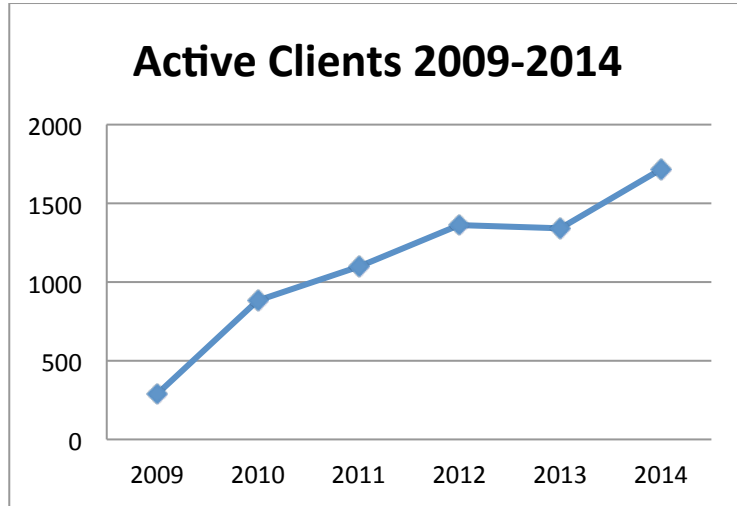

We are also grateful for the support we receive from the individuals, businesses and organizations in our community who understand that partnership is fundamental when providing assistance for over 5,000 East Bay neighbors struggling with food insecurity. We recognize that there are countless appeals for donations from numerous agencies and EBFP is committed to the philosophy of not inundating our supporters with requests. We host a single major fundraising event each year -Uncorked!- that we hope our supporters will attend, sponsor and help us promote. And we make only one annual appeal for contributions that we ask you to generously consider. This important work cannot be accomplished without YOUR help.

We continue to be inspired by our mission: To engage, educate and empower the East Bay in creating a hunger-free community. Together we can do it!

With hope,

 Anita Randall, Founder and Executive Director

All members of our staff began with EBFP as volunteers and are deeply committed to the mission of our agency. Our top priorities are to offer the best pantry programming possible for our clients and to make volunteering with EBFP a terrific experience for those who give us their time. We are always open to your comments and suggestions and look forward to working together to make 2015 our most productive year yet!

History and Mission

East Bay Food Pantry (EBFP) and its companion Thrift Shop were established in response to a growing need for assistance in the East Bay community that was identified by Pastor Daniel Barron Randall and the leadership of Bristol's First Congregational Church. With support from the East Bay Community Development Corporation, state legislators, HUD, and the Town of Bristol, space was secured on the ground level of the Franklin Court Assisted Living building on Wood Street in Bristol (rent and utility free). Over 200 volunteers, including professionals in the construction trades, spent over 3,000 hours cleaning, painting and preparing the space for the August 2009 opening. The East Bay Food Pantry began serving the community in August 2009, and received 501c3 status in December 2009. The EBFP is a RI Community Food Bank Member Agency, having met stringent training and compliance requirements. Clients from the East Bay area are served free of charge at the Food Pantry and have exclusive shopping privileges at the Thrift Shop every Wednesday. The Thrift Shop is open to the public from Wednesday to Saturday, with thrift shop proceeds used to support our food programs.

The EBFP currently serves approximately 1,500 households with food distribution and meaningful community-based programs utilizing best practices for effective service delivery and evaluation.

EBFP operates with an all part-time staff including our Executive Director, Programs and Operations Manager, Thrift Shop Coordinator, Programs Assistant, and Customer Service Cashier. There are currently over 60 active volunteers serving in both the Pantry and Thrift Shop, who bring varied professional and personal skills to the agency; including a nutritionist, nurses, educators, physicians, IT professionals, engineers and business leaders. Our valuable community partnerships assist us in meeting our mission of “engaging, educating and empowering the East Bay in creating a hunger-free community”.

Food Pantry

Food insecurity among Rhode Island families is a real and urgent social issue; one that the East Bay Food Pantry (EBFP) is addressing with compassion, expertise and innovation. Clients from the East Bay area are served free of charge once a month at the Food Pantry and have exclusive shopping privileges at the Thrift Shop every Wednesday. EBFP is located one block from the bus line, and EBFP clients reside in the towns of East Providence, Barrington, Warren, Bristol, Portsmouth, Middletown, Newport, Tiverton, and Little Compton. Our “Client Choice” food pantry offers each client household selections based upon household size and key nutritional guidelines. This practice reflects EBFP’s belief in the dignity of each individual by providing a “shopping experience” for our clients. Clients choose all their items rather than receiving a bag of food selected for them that they may or may not want or need.

Holiday Baskets and Gifts

The Bristol County Elks, Roger Williams University students and staff, America’s Cup Defenders, Displays2Go, America’s Best Defense, and many caring individuals assisted in fulfilling Thanksgiving basket requests for 430 client families (representing 1091 individuals) and provided extra Christmas food for 336 client families (representing 856 individuals). The fifth year of our Christmas-4-Kids program provided multiple gifts of toys and clothing for 342 children in December 2014. Many businesses, churches, and individuals donated presents to East Bay children who would otherwise have received little or nothing for Christmas.

Thrift Shop Vouchers

This program enables area social service agencies and local schools to refer families and individuals experiencing hardship to shop in the Thrift Shop at no cost. We give out an average of $300 worth of clothing, house-wares, and/or furniture to folks in need every month.

Access Nutrition Initiative

Our Access Nutrition Initiative is central to our philosophy and has a tremendous influence on all our other programs. Our goal is to consistently offer whole grains, low-fat dairy products, high quality protein, olive oil, and a wide variety of fruits and vegetables in all forms to our clients who rely on the EBFP to supplement their food needs. We are working to build nutrition consciousness into the culture of the EBFP, involving clients, staff and volunteers.

Access Nutrition combines the resources available from the RI Community Food Bank (targeted program foods, when available, and written materials) with the hands-on community services provided by SNAP-Ed and our own in-house, professional resources to offer more than just food to our at-risk clients. EBFP has a professional nutritionist who serves on the Board, provides nutrition education for clients and volunteers, and serves as program consultant for Access Nutrition. In addition, a SNAP-Education dietician offers occasional healthy food tastings, sharing recipes and collecting data on client responses.

EBFP is committed to building a nutrition-conscious culture that is evidenced year-round, not just during the growing season. This holistic approach includes educating staff and volunteers and offering activities for children focused on healthy eating. We are energized by the real potential for positive impact this initiative can have in the lives of some of the most vulnerable RI children and their families.

Fresh Food Fridays

In 2011, we began offering fresh food (produce, bread, etc) to our clients every Friday. In addition to their regular, once a month pantry “shop”, clients may come in any Friday to pick up any produce, bread, or other perishable food that is available. Our goal is to have clients incorporate fresh food into their diet every week. In addition, we are committed to getting produce and bread to our clients in its freshest and most nutritious state. The program was developed to support the goals of our Access Nutrition Initiative. The program has been growing rapidly, with household visits increasing 36% in 2013 and an additional 31% in 2014. We had 2,919 household visits in 2014, representing 7,288 individual visits.

Cooking Classes

Every month, the East Bay Food Pantry offers a healthy cooking class free of charge to interested clients. Led by a SNAP-Education dietician, each healthy cooking class offers pantry clients a chance to learn a new recipe and covers a different health or nutrition topic. Clients have the opportunity to taste foods they might not otherwise have tried in a supportive environment designed to increase their knowledge of healthy ways to cook with common food pantry products. Clients also learn about a variety of health and nutrition topics, including food groups, portion sizes, and cooking within a budget, and they have the opportunity to ask questions and discuss health topics of interest. In addition to tasting the recipe during the class itself, all clients participating in the cooking class receive a grocery bag filled with the ingredients required to make the recipe demonstrated in class. This allows clients to practice the recipe they have just learned and share it with their families at home. (Grocery bags of recipe ingredients are donated by the Bristol County Elks – East Bay Cares.)

Food4Kids

The East Bay Food Pantry's Access Nutrition Initiative program, Food4Kids, began in 2012 to address the critical gap in available food assistance to low-income children when they are not in school. During the school year, many children receive free or reduced-price breakfast and lunch through the National School Lunch Program. During weekends, summer, and other vacations, many low-income children lose their access to daily school lunch and breakfast; these meals typically provide a major portion of the nutrients that a child needs during the school year. Lack of nutrition when out of school may set up a cycle of poor performance once school begins again, and may make children more prone to illness and other health issues. The Food4Kids Program is designed to fill that nutrition gap and make sure children can get the nutritious meals they need year round. Starting in 2014, the summer and weekend Food4Kids programs were joined to provide supplementary food for school-aged children in need throughout the year. At the beginning of the school year parents or guardians register their children for the program by becoming East Bay Food Pantry clients and providing documentation indicating participation in the National School Lunch Program. Parents or guardians (or other designated shoppers) are then able to “shop” for the supplemental food for their child(ren) the 2nd and 4th Fridays of each month during the school year and every Friday during the summer at the East Bay Food Pantry. Each visit during the summer provides enough food to make 5 nutritious breakfasts, lunches and snacks for each child. Each visit during the school year provides enough food to make healthy breakfasts, lunches, and snacks for each child for 2-3 weekends plus enough extra food to cover school vacations. During 2014, the Food4Kids program provided needy children with enough food for over 10,500 meals.

Grow-A-Row

The EBFPP invites local gardeners and farms to grow produce for us and donate it to our food pantry every Wednesday or Friday as crops are ready to harvest. Fresh produce is an essential component of a healthy diet, but it is not donated frequently enough to supply demand at the East Bay Food Pantry. Grow-A-Row is an ideal vehicle to engage community, build relationships, and provide our clients with access to fresh, local produce. We have formed partnerships with Blithewold Gardens, Jamestown Community Farm, Magaziner Farm, and McCoy Community Farm among others, to bring additional fresh, locally grown produce to our clients every week. Grow-A-Row is a component of our Access Nutrition Initiative and helps supply our pantry on Wednesdays and Fridays during the growing and harvesting seasons.

Volunteers

We could not accomplish the breadth and depth of the work we do in the pantry and thrift shop without the dedication and commitment of our volunteers. In 2014, 139 individuals donated 10,103 hours of volunteer labor to our agency! Many thanks to each and every one of you!
